PRICE: TWO CENTS

SEC NOMINATIONS STILL INCOMPLETE

Thirteen candidates have been nominated for the forthcoming Students' Executive Council elections. The positions for the faculties of Commerce, Dentistry, and Divinity and Music are still uncontested.

The following is a list of students who are running for SEC positions:

Faculty of Arts and Science: Barbara Notkin, Anne Lucas, Michael Eric Butler.

Faculty of Law: Avrum Cohen, Daniel Kingstone.

Faculty of Engineering: David C. Ellis, Maurice G. Vezina, Malcolm D. Lefcort.

School of Architecture: Radoslov Zuk, Michael Fish.

Faculty of Medicine: Brandon Chenault.

School of Physical Education, School of Physiotherapy, and

Manion To Discuss Trade Opportunities

Mr. J. P. Manion, Assistant Director of the Federal Government's Foreign Trade Service, will speak in Room W.20 of the Arts Building at 4 pm today.

Mr. Manion will discuss the university graduate's opportunities in trade. Responsible posts abroad as Foreign Service Officers are now open to suitable people with the necessary qualifications.

Mr. Manion received his degree from McGill in 1929 and was appointed to the Department in 1931, interrupting his career in 1942 to enlist in the Army, where he served with distinction. He is presently holding the post of Assistant Director Economic Planning and Co-ordination and Area Officer (Asia).

School of Graduate Nurses: Judy Cliff.

Nominees must be students of the year prior to Graduation Year in each group. Nominations must be in the hands of the Secretary of the Students' Society by 2 pm on Thursday. The elections will be held on December 2.

Scarlet Key

A total of 81 nominations have been received for Scarlet Key Society positions.

When nominations closed, only one had been received from the Faculty of Architecture, and none from the Faculties of Physical Education and Divinity and Music.

Hospital Seeks Coed Volunteers

The Women's Union has organized a volunteer service at the Royal Victoria Hospital. Those interested are asked to sign up on the lists which have been posted outside the R.V.C. cafeteria.

A meeting will soon be held at which more details will be given regarding the duties involved and the amount of time required to perform them.

For any further information, Pat Gardner may be contacted at R.V.C. or by phoning PL. 0829.

EVOLUTION OF COMBINED CHARITIES

By Ruth Roskies

The Combined Charities was not always run as properly as it is now. There was an era at McGill when Combined Charities time was gayer than the football season, and people gave money to be amused.

If one happened to be a student at McGill in 1951, for example, it was possible to win a free trip to Paris. Not Paris, Ontario, but the city of Gay Paree itself! Air France donated two weeks in the land of the French absolutely free, and one lucky student benefited by having bought a 25 cent raffle.

The year 1951 may be remembered for other reasons as well. It happened that a huge extravaganza was planned to help reach the objective. What the exact nature of this affair was to be, no one knew, but in anticipation, girls were forbidden to attend. Somehow, there was a confusion as to the Union rulings forbidding hard liquor in any form to enter the Union. As a result of the misunderstanding, four campus leaders were suspended, and The Daily was forced to cease publication for three days.

GRADUATE PHOTOS

Students in final year Engineering, Architecture, and Physical Education should go to Van Dyck's Studio, 1121 St. Catherine St. W. (between Peel and Stanley), November 15-20 inclusive. The studio is open from 9 am to 6 pm. Students are required to pay $3.55 at the time of sitting. All graduating students of other faculties who have not yet had their picture taken should have them taken this week without fail.

First year Medical students receiving their B.Sc. degree this year are entitled to have their picture inserted in the graduate section of the Annual. Students wishing to do this should go to Van Dyck's Studio this week also.

IMPROMPTU TALK ENDS VISIT TO CAMPUS

By Ruth Roskies

Pierre Mendes-France interrupted a busy schedule yesterday to give McGill students an impromptu speech on the steps of Redpath Hall.

He arrived at McGill at 3.45 and was immediately taken into the former Redpath library where he was received by Principal James and members of the senate and staff. Dr. James welcomed the Prime Minister, both in French and in English. "You have laid the foundation of a brilliant career which, I venture to prophesy, is only beginning", he said.

Dr. James pointed out that Mr. Mendes-France was not only the youngest Prime Minister France had ever had, but had been the youngest lawyer, and the youngest member of parliament as well.

The Prime Minister, speaking in French, expressed his gratitude for the reception, and his honour at being received by such a well known economist. He said he was particularly glad to be at McGill because it is considered to be the foremost university in Canada.

He said that the example of French and Anglo-Saxon co-existence at McGill and in Canada should prove an example to the rest of the world.

Speaking to the gathering, and later to the students, he paid tribute to the McGillians who had fought in Normandy and France during World War II. His visit to Canada, he said, was primarily a visit of thanks.

During the reception, the French Prime Minister refused a glass of sherry, and drank a glass of milk, instead. He was introduced to several members of the French department of McGill, and to members of the Board of Governors and the senate.

The speech to the students was not scheduled, but when the crowd outside the Hall began to cheer Mendes-France, the Prime Minister ter, at the request of Marv Gameroff, President of the Students' Society, consented to speak. "I hope that my French has been understood", he said when he finished. When the crowd laughed, he added, "I see that you understood better than if I had spoken in English".

The McGill Chamber Music Orchestra, conducted by Alexander Brott, welcomed the Prime Minister with a rendition of the Marseillaise. They provided background music throughout the reception.

25% ELECT EXECUTIVE OF ASUS

An unofficial 25% of students from the Faculty of Arts & Science turned out yesterday to elect their class executives.

Placed into office were:

Frank Vasilkioti, first year President; Ralph Ordover, second year President; Maynard Shapiro, third year President; Ed Blanshay, fourth year President; Myrna Chislett, fourth year Vice-President; Helen Ferguson, fourth year Secretary; Harvey Lupu, fourth year Treasurer.

Both Helen Ferguson and Harvey Lupu received their positions by acclamation.

Jaime Robertson, President of the Arts & Science Executive, extends his congratulations to the winners on behalf of the entire Executive; "We are looking forward to working with you all during the forthcoming year," he stated.

E.U.S. To Hold Annual Informal

The Engineering Undergraduate Society will hold its annual Fall Informal on Saturday, November 20.

Featured this year are the West-ernaires and Bev Watt, their charming songstress. The Dance will be Cabaret style, everything being supplied — ice, mixers, etc. — save your favorite brand. Tickets will be on sale in the lobby of the Engineering Building Monday through Friday from 1-2 pm, for $2 per couple.

As an added attraction, "The Thing" will be presented to some lucky ticket holder at a raffle to be held on the steps of the Engineering Building at one pm Friday, November 19.

All's well that ends well. But in future years, it was decided, the campaign would be run with more decorum.

In 1952 a Robin Hood of days of yore rode up to the steps of the Arts Building on a white charger and asked for contributions. There was also a Variety Show with Dentistry supplying a singing sextet, Engineering presenting an instrumental ensemble, and the meds providing dixieland music.

By the time 1952 rolled around canvassing had begun in earnest. There was only a tea dance to raise money, and all other contributions were given to canvassers.

Last year, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis were the unofficial sponsors of the campaign, as they opened it by giving a $2 contribution. This year there will be a cute little man around campus to congratulate everyone who gives. His name is Charlie. Would't you like to meet him?

EDITORIAL

DON'T BOTHER ENTERING

We suspect that we will be rather embarrassed, when Friday of this week has come and gone, and we find ourselves with hardly any entries to our Literary Contest. What will we tell our six eminent judges — that McGill students are just not interested in writing contests; that they are all so idealistic that they will not write for cash prizes; that they are too busy; or that they are convinced they cannot write and will not try? We do not think any of these reasons are very good.

With only three days left in which entries may be submitted, however, contributions have been received from exactly eleven people. Admittedly most of them handed in more than one entry. But even so, somehow we do not think that four short stories, twenty-six poems and zero essays will make a good contest. In fact, if no more entries are received, we will be forced on Friday night to call up our judges, apologize for bothering them in the first place, and tell them that they are not judges after all. We hope that this will not be necessary.

Every year The Daily has held its contest, the same thing has happened; we have spent time and valuable space appealing for enough entries to make a good contest. This time we thought we would entice entries by asking well-qualified professors to act as judges, and if this was not enough, by offering large cash prizes. Yet neither has had any appreciable effect on the number of entries.

However we have thought of a good solution. We hope that no one else will enter the contest. Then we can cancel the whole thing, and invite our judges out to a party on the prize money.

Next Year's Curriculum?

By Josh

With the problem of registration still vividly fresh in my mind, I would like to suggest the following course changes to be included in next year's curriculum.

Mathematics 113 + 2: A first year course explaining the mysterious system used to number the courses in all faculties and departments. This is compulsory for all students. Prerequisite — Jr. Matric.

Differential Calculus 50761: An advanced course dealing with such problems as how to teach accounting to 120 students in a class built to seat 25. This course is open to nobody. Please don't ask about it.

Internal English 10: A first year course explaining as far as is humanly possible what the hell The Daily's function is on the campus. This course will be given to Daily staffers in Greek.

Economics 1872: The methods of preparing a budget enabling a coed and a senior to go steady on $1.50 a week minus beer money. Highly theoretical and very funny. Don't miss it. This course may not be given at any time and will clash with everything.

Physical Education 12: Open to RVC students only. This is an astride jumping course for fat girls. Course takes place from 10 to 12 on Friday and Saturday nights. Prereq. — two legs, one left and one right. No others need apply.

Vision 20-20: A course on how to appraise the female of the species and after the second week a course on how to discourage the wearing of knee length wool stockings (knee socks). Males only need apply. Report to office in gym.

Animal Husbandry 500: A short course on how to raise rabbits for pleasure or money. Starting with the simple problem of two rabbits, the course will become more difficult as it goes on, usually ending in confusion and panic among students and instructors. Prereq. — A.H. 499.

Animal Husbandry 499: How to stop rabbits from raising.

Silence U: How to talk in a whisper. Given in the library anytime by the librarian.

Cheerleaderettes 64: A training course given to expectant mothers in order to ready their pretty female offspring to be cheerleaderettes at McGill in the near future.

Letter to the Editor:

Indifferent to Mendes-France

Dear Sir:

We were both amazed and disappointed at the insignificant attention given in Monday's Daily to the visit of M. Mendes-France. One would think that visits from heads of foreign states occur every day from your indifferent attitude. Would it not have been fitting, Mr. Editor, to write a few words of welcome upon such an occasion?

One would question whether football reports (in agonizing detail), even though they have such startling headlines, deserve priority over an official visit to the University.

At best your indifference can be attributed to forgetfulness; at worst to an inept manner of managing so important a matter.

To add insult to injury, an official atmosphere was conspicuously absent during the course of the visit itself. It is customary for official visitors to enter the campus through the Roddick Gates; M. Mendes-France was brought in through the McTavish Street entrance. Is M. Mendes-France so insignificant a person as not to merit the attendance of the Scarlet Key Society?

With great dismay, we learned as well that while at the University of Montreal, this leading statesman had  $\frac{3}{4}$  of an hour and an official hall in which to address the student body. Certainly the great crowd of students freezing outside of Redpath Hall and able to hear only a mere trickle of words from this man's mouth, could have had far better conditions made for them.

In short, the reception for this man was not fitting for his position and prestige, and we can only feel that grave errors were committed.

Letter to the Editor:

Thank You, McGill

The Blood Transfusion Service of the Canadian Red Cross wishes to most sincerely thank the Student Body of McGill for having so generously responded to the appeal for blood on October 25th to 29th.

The result of the clinic was bigger and better than ever this year and we are very grateful and very proud. The blood was very much needed as was evidenced by the fact that a great deal of it was used in the hospitals the same day as it was collected, and this puts us still further in your debt.

Congratulations and a big note of thanks must go to Pete Abbott and his very able Committee who not only worked tirelessly and enthusiastically for weeks to prepare for this event but were present every day at the clinic insuring that everything ran smoothly and efficiently. Being responsible for the collection of 1,700 bottles of blood was no mean task.

Thanks also to the authorities for the use of the Physical Science Building and to Mr. McPhee for his valuable help and forbearance during the entire week.

The girls of the Blood Transfusion Service are very much indebted to the Students who volunteered and who did so much to help during the actual progress of the clinic. Their aid speeded up operation and enabled them to put through so many more donors per day.

Finally, congratulations to the Faculty of Engineering for again being the proud possessors of that delightful and important female "Bloody Mary".

Mary Johnson,
Blood Donor Panel,
Canadian Red Cross Society,

Meds Tie Apes 6-6

by Bob Scriven

What was supposed to be the final Touch Football game of the year between the Engineering 'Apes' and Med. 2, ended in a 6-6 draw forcing a second play-off.

In the first few minutes, the 'Apes' had a slight edge but Pat White intercepted a pass and in a couple of plays the Meds were threatening on the 'Apes' 10 yard line. The Engineers staved them off and on some fine passing by Sandzeilus pressed into Meds territory as the half ended.

On the opening kickoff of the second half, Lake made a nice 40 yard run-back to give the Engineers a fine start. Sandzeilus passed to McCann all alone in the end zone to open the scoring. The convert was good making the score 6-0 for the 'Apes'.

As the tension mounted, Meds put on a great drive and finally Larkey hit Wait with a pass. The convert was good and the game was all tied up 6-6.

On the last play of the game, a series of roughing, interference, and no yards penalties confused the issue, and a hot discussion took place as to what the ruling should be. It was decided to replay the game on Wednesday at 1 pm in the stadium.

PHYSIO LEADS IN COED CAGE CONTEST

Physio came through with another win last night to take over the lead in the intramural basketball tournament.

Even with the fine effort of J. McNab, who garnered nine points for Arts, they lost to Physio in a very close tilt, the score being 18-15. E. Wright was high scorer for Physio with 10 points.

In the second game of the evening, Phys. Ed. 3 walloped Science, 1, 21-10. The precise passing plays and basket shots of the forwards G. Kuncie and D. May combined with the fine defensive blocking of B. Muir and A. Mackersey were major factors in the Phys. Ed. victory. Miss May contributed 12 points while the sharp shooting of J. Walika gave Science eight of their ten points.

This win for Phys. Ed. 3 — last year's champions — puts them in second place, three points behind Physio. It seems that there will be a battle royal for first place. With the schedule not nearly completed Science and Phys. Ed. 2 are still in the running. Anything might happen. Spirit is running high.

RED SEPTET BOWS TO Y

It seems to be "unlucky McGill" all along the way. In their third league game last night the injury-ridden red poloists took a sound 13-6 drubbing at the hands of the Central YMCA.

Playing without both Kirka and Miloslavie the red forward line seemed to have lost most of its speed and power. Jack Novick, played all through the four quarters though far from well.

Within a minute of the start the Y boys were two up, almost before the locals realised what hit them. Geukers, the Y's ambidextrous whiz whipped in two quick markers, and Lacousier and McDonald tallied one apiece. Toporovski scored one for McGill and the end of the first quarter saw the Y leading 5-1.

After this very shaky start, the locals settled down to playing a more aggressive kind of ball. Novick and Toporovsky scored one apiece at the start of the second, but then the local scoring effort petered out. After being led 7-3 at half time the Ashton ensemble finished off the day at the losing end of a 13-6 score. The other McGill markers were tallied by Novick, Toporovski and Roy respectively.

The absence of the star players was very keenly felt all through the game. Bernie Toporovski played an outstanding game on defence and this boy is a real find of the season. Addleson is a newcomer with a lot of speed, but his ball handling is still a little awkward. Jackie, despite being unfit, played a tremendous game, scoring three of the local's six goals.

Just pin-curl as usual. Apply Bobbi, rinse 45 minutes later. When hair is dry, simply brush out. No neutralizer needed. No curlers, no re-setting. So easy, you do it yourself.

"OLD MCGILL" IS THEME OF NEWMAN JUBILEE

McGill's famed Roddick Gates and the stately trees of Graduates Row will cast their shadows on the Ritz Carlton Hotel this Friday night to form the setting for the annual Newman Club Ball.

McGill's Newman Club celebrates its Silver Jubilee this year and fittingly enough has chosen the theme of 'Old McGill 1929-1954' as the setting for its 25th anniversary ball.

The annual Newman Club has for years been strictly a student activity. But this year, in honor of the Jubilee, the Club has decided to revise the Newman Ball and make it a celebration for the public at large.

The Chief Honorary Patrons of the Anniversary Ball are the Right Honorable Louis St. Laurent, Prime Minister of Canada, and Mrs. St. Laurent. Attending patrons will include University Principal Dr. F. Cyril James and Mrs. James, and Newman Club founder Judge E. J. McNamany and Mrs. McNamany.

Jose da Costa's orchestra will provide music for dancing from 10 pm to 3 am. Supper will be served at midnight. Tickets at $4.00 per person are still available in limited supply at Newman Club, 2049 McGill College Ave. or by contacting Miss Nina Roche at FI. 8365.

COSMO PARTY TO FEATURE FIRE DANCE

A fire dance adopted from the tropic rituals of the Haitian hills will be the featured floor show at the Cosmo Party scheduled for the Union Cafeteria at 8:30 pm on Friday, November 19.

In keeping with the floor show, which could only be Caribbean or Latin Quarter style, the decor for the evening will be in the "Sidewalk Cafe" tradition.

"The refreshments also will be exotic and fiery enough to lend an air of authenticity to the Continental Party" said a member of the committee.

While open to everyone on the campus, the Committee hopes that the atmosphere will be particularly nostalgic to the "Cosmopolitan Set" and has arranged a special 15c discount from the 50c admission charge for all members of the Club.
